

Preconditions for success in sports activities

Using Google Sites I prepared the materials for the teachers of Geography, Science, Art, Technology and Physical Education. The colleagues who joined the project entered the Google Sites and decided how to use the materials according to the students' level and to their interests. The lesson plan may be adapted to their decisions. I also prepared photocopyable material at their disposal. At the end of the Cil modules we met to analyze the decisions made, the best practices, the material which was eventually added and we took some decisions for the following school year.

The following ones are the links to the Google sites. Here you can find the materials, the instructions, the final products.

We really enjoyed this hard but amazing experience.

Thank you.
